VEGETINE

Purifies the Blood and Gives Strength.

DU QUOIN, ILL., Jan. 21, 1878.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—Your "Vegetine" has been doing wonders for me. Have been having Chills and Fever, contracted in the swamps of the South, nothing giving me relief, until I began the use of your Vegetine, it giving me immediate relief, toning up my system, purifying my blood, giving strength; whereas all other medicine weakened me, and filled my system with poison; and I am satisfied that if families that live in the ague districts of the South and West would take Vegetine two or three times a week, they would not be troubled with the "Chills" or the malignant Fevers that prevail at certain times of the year, save doctors' bills, and live to a good old age.

Respectfully yours,
J. E. MITCHELL,
Agent Henderson's Looms, St. Louis, Mo.

ALL DISEASES OF THE BLOOD.—If Vegetine will relieve pain, cleanse, purify, and cure such diseases, restoring the patient to perfect health after trying different physicians, many remedies, suffering for years, is it not conclusive proof, if you are a sufferer, you can be cured? Why is this medicine performing such great cures? It works in the blood, in the circulating fluid. It can truly be called the Great Blood Purifier. The great source of disease originates in the blood; and no medicine that does not act directly upon it, to purify and renovate, has any just claim upon public attention.

Has Entirely Cured Me of Vertigo

CAIRO, ILL., Jan. 23, 1878.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—I have used several bottles of Vegetine; it has entirely cured me of Vertigo. I have also used it for Kidney Complaint. It is the best medicine for kidney complaint. I would recommend it as a good blood purifier.

N. YOCUM.

PAIN AND DISEASE.—Can we expect to enjoy good health when bad or corrupt humors circulate with the blood; causing pain and disease; and these humors, being deposited through the entire body, produce pimples, eruptions, ulcers, indigestion, costiveness, headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, and numerous other complaints? Remove the cause by taking VEGETINE, the most reliable remedy for cleansing and purifying the blood.

VEGETINE.

I Believe it to be a Good Medicine.

XENIA, O., March 1, 1877.

MR. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—I wish to inform you what your Vegetine has done for me. I have been afflicted with Neuralgia, and after using three bottles of the Vegetine was entirely relieved. I also found my general health much improved. I believe it to be a good medicine.

Yours truly, FRED HAVERSTICK.

VEGETINE thoroughly eradicates every kind of humor, and restores the entire system to a healthy condition.

VEGETINE.

Druggist's Report.

H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—We have been selling your "Vegetine" for the past eighteen months, and we take pleasure in stating that in every case, to our knowledge, it has given great satisfaction.

Respectfully,
BUCK & COWGILL, Druggists,
Hickman, Ky.

RIOT AT NACHITOCHES, LA.

Firing Provoked in Some Manner. One Negro Killed.

New Orleans, Sept. 22.

A special to the Democrat from Coushatta says that yesterday the Democratic convention assembled at Natchitoches to nominate candidates. The negroes, under the leadership of Blunt, Breda and others, came in force making incendiary speeches threatening the Convention and demanding an adjournment, which created considerable excitement. Armed bodies of negroes flocked into town. Breda was arrested, and dispatches were received here from Natchitoches calling for assistance. Coushatta responded promptly, and the country is aroused. At this moment firing has commenced on the pickets and one negro is reported killed.

Coushatta is about fifty miles from Natchitoches, and as no dispatches reporting a disturbance have been received from that point, nor confirmation from Coushatta, the impression here is that serious trouble has occurred.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT.

A Young Ladies Head Blown off by A Gunshot.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 21, 1878.

The farmhouse of W. H. Deale, in the upper section of Southampton county, four miles from Boyker's depot, was the scene of a shocking tragedy this morning. About eight o'clock, Luther Deale, a young son of W. H. Deale, was sent by Edward Barnes into the room of Miss Mollie Nelson to obtain a shotgun to shoot a hawk. A few moments afterward the explosion of firearms in Miss Nelson's apartment alarmed the family, and on their rushing into the room Miss Mollie was found prostrate on the floor with the top of her skull blown off, her head and shoulders bathed in blood. Young Deale in handling the gun had accidentally discharged it and the whole load struck Miss Nelson. She lived in an unconscious state about an hour, attended by Dr. Bebrell, of Boyker's Depot. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Deale and on a visit to the house, having come only the day before from her home in Northampton county, N. C. She was only eighteen years of age and very beautiful and interesting.

Drowned While Bathing.

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 21.

The day before yesterday Charles Wright, son of Dr. William Wright, of Princess Ann Court House, a very promising and estimable young man, while surf bathing at Dana Neck, twelve miles below Cape Henry, became exhausted in the breakers and was drowned. The body was not recovered.

Ten years ago a farmer in Washington, Iowa., became possessed with the idea that he had been commissioned to open a hotel near Jerusalem, and thus become the pioneer in the work of restoring the Holy City to its ancient splendor. He owned property worth about $20,000, and being unable to persuade his family to start with him in his undertaking, he left them half the property and with $10,000 set out alone. Arriving at the Holy Land he purchased land near Jerusalem and built his hotel, which has become a popular resort for tourists, and now his family, having sold the home property, are about to start to join the father in his Eastern home.

Little four-year-old Mary complained to mamma that her button shoes were "hurting." "Why, Matie, you've put them on the wrong feet." Puzzled and ready to cry, she made answer: "What'll I do, mamma? they's all the feet I've got!"

MOVEMENT OF GEN. GRANT.

Generous Offering for the Yellow Fever Sufferers.

LONDON, Sept. 22.

General Grant's tour through British India, should he make it as proposed, promises to be supplemented by a journey to and a grand reception by the Siamese. A private letter received here last night, dated Bangkok, Siam, July 14, says that King Khoulalonkorn has determined to give to General Grant in case he carries out his projected journey to the far East. His Majesty promises to meet the ex-President at Singapore and to accompany him thence to Bangkok. The King has already brought the subject before his Council of Ministers, and Suri Wongsi, Minister of State, will prepare an address of welcome. The festivities at Bangkok during General Grant's stay in "The Land of the White Elephant" will be on the grandest scale. All the foreign residents are anxiously looking forward to his arrival, and, without distinction as to nationality, will take part in the reception.

The Herald's Paris correspondent telegraphs that President and Mme. MacMahon yesterday sent General Noyes, Minister to France from the United States, 5,000 francs ($1,000) towards the yellow fever fund.

AS THEIR PERSONAL CONTRIBUTION

EASTERN TOPICS.

A Vienna dispatch says:—"It is semi-officially denied that the Sultan has rejected the convention with Austria. On the contrary, the chances of its ratification are improving. General Jovanovich's success in Herzegovina has had in this country." A Circassian slave recently took refuge in the British Consulate at Constantinople. The Consul ordered her retention, and has requested Minister Layard to urge the Porte to in Turkey. The health of the British troops on the Island of Malta is unsatisfactory. There has been a new outbreak of fever. Twenty-one deaths have occurred since the occupation began. Four hundred men are now sick out of a total of 2,022. A Berlin despatch announces that Bismarck is back at work again. A despatch from Calcutta last night says that General Sir Neville Chamberlain, accompanied by the other members of the mission, has started from Peshawur for Cabul.

AN INSPIRITING EFFECT

PROHIBIT THE SALE OF SLAVES

THE ANTI-SOCIALIST BILL.

The German Parliamentary Committee on the Anti-Socialist bill has passed in an amended form the clause of the bill which was rejected on Friday. The clause prohibits socialistic writings tending to endanger the public peace or concord among the various classes. A man in Brussels, the printer of a phamphlet libelling the Emperor of Germany, has been sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment and $100 fine, and the author in contumaciam to five years and $400 fine.

IN ENGLAND.

Thomas Forbes charged under the extradition law with having obtained $13,000 by false pretences from Mrs. Frances H. Walker, of New York, was today discharged in consequence of the non arrival of extradition papers. Mrs. Walker states that the case has been compromised, Forbes having returned the greater part of the amount stolen. Forbes refuses to say anything about the matter. Alfred Howe, spinner of Rockdale, Lancashire, has failed. His liabilities are £75,000 ($375,000).

THE DOMINION.

Arrival of the New Governor General.

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.

The Marquis of Lorne and the Princess Louise, whose arrival in Canada is looked for early in November, will make a viceregal progress through the principal cities of the Dominion. The Canadian world of fashion is in a flutter of excitement at the anticipated event, and already the modistes are well patronized. Lord Dufferin has returned to Ottawa, and will remain at the capital until the Ministerial crisis is over.

THE METHODS OF SOCIALISM.

Socialism, as a movement, does not move by discussion. Its program is violence. Its tone is: No argument; let us have our way, or beware! Modern violence consists largely in voting, and when this kind is available and sufficient, the social democracy asks no more. If it is not available, the proposition is plain and loud to use weapons and the torch. If, however, voting is not to be controlled, in the long run, by intelligence, reason, argument, and discussion, then the civilized world has been building for a century upon faith in certain doctrines which are about to give way and to expose society to a terrible convulsion. All our inherited institutions of civil liberty face toward the executive, as if from that organ alone danger could come. The power has now been transferred to popular majorities, under the assumption that they would never abuse it to enrich themselves at the expense of producers, as monarchs and aristocracies have done. The new task is to devise institutions which shall protect civil liberty against popular majorities, since it appears that this assumption is not beyond question. That task lies next before us in the development of the art of government, and it appears that the great civilized nations will have to execute it before the end of this century, if they do not intend to give up all that has been won in five thousand years of history.—[Prof. W. G. Sumner, in Scribner for Oct.

THE ODD FELLOWS.—The grand lodge of Odd Fellows in session at Baltimore approved the amendment constitutions of the several state organizations. An appealed case from Ohio, involving the question of the eligibility of the presiding officer of a lodge for immediate re-election, was decided in the affirmative. It was resolved that it would be inexpedient to authorize lodges to work in the highest degree (now the fifth), at least until the number of degrees is reduced to three. The lodge refused to authorize the chartering of subordinate encampments as uniformed, mixed or ununiformed organizations. An encampment member suspended in a lodge for non-payment of dues is to be allowed to hold membership in the former for one year thereafter. Dismissal certificates can now be granted to suspended members to join a lodge in the same jurisdiction at any time.

An indication of the importance of the ostrich farming industry in South Africa is furnished by some prices recently paid for the birds at public sale. Twenty pairs of breeding ostriches realized on an average $1000 a pair, the finest couple realizing $1425. It was an easy matter, a few years ago, to procure for museums all the ostriches and eggs desired at a merely nominal price, but now even the Zoological Society in London does not possess an African bird. At a recent sale of ostrich feathers in South Africa a picked lot sold for $310 a pound, or about $3 75 a feather. In 1860 the amount of ostrich feathers exported from the Cape of Good Hope was 2207 pounds, valued at $96,305; in 1877 some 60,000 pounds were exported, worth $4,967,030.

The following is an extract from a private note from an English gentleman known both in Parliament and literature: "As to the pashas, I fear we shall just wink at their abominations, make Cyprus safe and build a Euphrates Valley Railway, which may be good for the rest of the world, but will leave us a sadly smirched record. We ought to have accepted the writing on the wall from the first, and not expended our energies in trying to make an empty sack stand upright. If we don't suffer for that experiment I am much mistaken......I am glad to see Butler joining in with your communists, and only hope he may get deep enough before he sees his blunder. All I read and hear of the President makes me think highly of him, and my faith in your future is as strong as ever."

Of all the men who were employed in the three departments of the Memphis Appeal office a month ago, only two are left. The only editor now on duty alternates between writing and type setting through sixteen hours a day.

Malignant diphtheria has been epidemic in portions of St. Albans, where the drainage and sewerage are defective, for the past month, the cases numbering thirty-five and the deaths seven.

During the prevalence of yellow fever in the south parents have deserted children and children parents, husbands their wives, but not one wife a husband.

The Providence and Stonington R. R. have a new side track at Kingston Junction, 600 feet in length.

A CYNIC ON "SWEET SIXTEEN."

We don't hear nearly so much raving as we used to about sweet sixteen but the sentimental infatuation about it still exists to a certain extent. American girls at sixteen, especially in the North, are not usually attractive to men. They are neither one thing nor the other. They lack the ingenuousness, freshness, and freedom of girls and they are without the tact, grace, or charm of women. They are very prone to be awkward, indefinite, silly, and they are very rarely pretty, however much promise they may give of prettiness. If any man cares to get an exact idea of them, let him step into the street-cars going up or down town about eight o'clock any morning, and he will behold them to his dissatisfaction. If he has ever idealized them, their actual presence will destroy his ideal completely. After riding a few blocks with them, we defy him to conjure up any sentimental image respecting them. Their thin figures, uncouth manners, extreme self-consciousness, and unconquerable tendency to giggle will render them prosaic enough. If he will wait two or three years, he will see into what a splendid butterfly the poor plain chrysalis has developed. Eighteen, nineteen, or upward may be as sweet as he chooses to make it.—[New York Times.

The contract for heating the capitol building at Albany, N. Y., has been given to F. Tudor & Co., ventilating engineers of Boston, who have devised a very novel and very economical method. The space now being provided for is within one-half the main building, 300 by 5000 feet high, and is to be completed at an outlay of about $30,000. The leading feature is that the control of the atmosphere within the building is centered with the engineer in the basement, and he will be supplied with indicators that will show the temperature of every room in the edifice as well as that of the several parts of the large assembly chambers. The system is an air-blast. By means of two 8-feet 3-ton exhaust fans the cold air is drawn in over the boilers; passes through two steam coils having a surface of 10,000 square feet each, and in a direct line of 250 feet from the entrance of the cold air to end of the coils it shoots under a damper 12½ by 5 feet into a chamber, where from the damper cold air rushes in and is mixed with the hot. Then it is caught into the blowers and sent through large zinc tubes to its several points for warming. By a movement of the damper the temperature of the air going through the blowers can be raised or lowered. Thus will be secured an even temperature; the highest proposed to be reached is 75°. There are to be six 54 horse-power steel boilers, with sixty 3-inch tubes each. They are built by Hodge of East Boston. The fans will be worked by a 35 horse-power Buckeye condensing engine, having a 24-inch cylinder, 25-inch stroke and running on 15 pounds pressure. As an offset to the cooling surfaces of the many 5 by 15 windows, pipes are run behind the mopboard and will throw up from regular vents radiations from live steam.

A sheep-shearing tournament recently took place at French Camp, Cal., for a purse of $500. At 8.30 the word was given; at noon there was an intermission for dinner; at 2.10 P. M. Thomas King was hailed victor, having shorn 45 sheep to 41 for George Carruthers, whose hand gave out.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

PROMPT REFORM OF BODILY EVILS

The prompt reform of those bodily evils enfeebled digestion, incomplete assimilation, inactivity of the liver, kidneys and bladder, as well as of the nervous symptoms which these ailments are especially prone to beget, is always accomplished by the use of Hostetters Stomach Bitters, a medicine accredited by physicians, pronounced pure by analysis, and eminently wholesome and agreeable. Surely such a restorative is preferable to unpalatable and indigestible mineral drugs and unsanctioned nostrums. The nation at large assuredly think so, judging by the unprecedented demand for the article from Maine to the Pacific, a demand now supplemented by immense orders for it received from tropical America, Mexico, the British and Spanish Colonial possessions, and elsewhere. Both at home and abroad it is recognized as a standard remedy and preventative, the decisiveness of its effects recommending it everywhere.

The Newport Daily News and the Newport Journal.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon, Sundays excepted, at the News building, 13 Church street, by Davis & Pittman.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning, and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, the latest markets, and a complete and comprehensive summary of the news,—local and general. The Journal is a large, 32 column paper, and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from this city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $5 per annum, or 12 cents a week, payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal. Terms $2 00 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the WHOLE YEAR is paid STRICTLY IN ADVANCE. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter, are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra, and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the daily for one week or longer. Funeral notices 50 cents each. Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business and are allowed twenty five changes a year. No gratuitous vorticing for any object. The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both the News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

Connected with the News is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1878.

On and after October 1st next cautionary signals will be displayed at Fall River and all orders received here will be transmitted there.

There is a change in the time table of the Continental Steamboat Company that goes into effect today. One of the midday trips will hereafter be omitted.

The yellow fever is still on the decline in New Orleans and Memphis, but on the increase at Chattanooga and several of the smaller towns on the Mississippi.

A firemen's festival and tournament, open to all steamers and hand engine companies, will be held in Providence on Thursday and Friday, October 10 and 11.

The Atlantic House lot was sold at auction at noon, today, for $21,000. It was purchased by John T. Bottomly, trustee for Mrs. Stett who was already a part owner of the same.

Mr. Hale announces that there will be no change of policy on the part of the Republicans in regard to the National finances. That is bad for the party whose policy has been so uncertain that nobody knows just what it is. As a matter of fact neither party has a financial policy.

A severe tornado is reported in the West Indies, and great damage was the result in Hayti and other islands. The loss of shipping is not yet reported but there will doubtless be considerable as the storm was accompanied by a tidal wave of immense proportions.

A political riot is reported in Louisiana gotten up by the negroes who attempted to break up a Democratic convention. It seems strange that in all such cases the whites are unharmed and only the blacks are killed and wounded. But then the colored people have not been heard from as yet.

Our townsman, Col. George E. Waring, Jr., has been elected corresponding member of the Council of the Sanitary Institute of Great Britain, and was in attendance in that capacity at the Sanitary Congress in Paris recently. At the dinner given by the Institute to the French "Societé d'Hygiéne" he sat at the left of the president.

Washington is still in turmoil, caused by the reckless demagogue Cohen, who parades the streets at the head of a mob of idle negroes. The authorities have at last begun to realize that to indulge him longer in these public manifestations is like playing with fire, and if he assembles his mob it will be ordered to disband and will be helped to it by the police and United States military if the order is not peaceably obeyed.

The Michigan tornado proves a serious affair. A despatch from Chippewa station says that a sudden darkness fell upon the place, accompanied by death-like stillness and an atmosphere so light that respiration seemed difficult. Suddenly the tornado struck the town with indescribable force, lasting but a few moments; yet in those few moments it utterly swept away every structure in the place. The inhabitants, warned by the darkness and stillness, had taken refuge in their cellars; and in consequence there were few fatal casualties.

The Hon. B. T. Eames publishes a card in which he says "Permit me with an expression of gratitude for the support which I have received for the office which I now hold, to say to the voters of the First Congressional District of the State, that I am not a candidate for reelection as Representative in the next Congress." Mr. Eames has made a good Representative in Congress and his retirement will be regretted by many voters in the District. We shall be fortunate indeed if his successor shall as faithfully and honorably discharge the duties of the office. We again nominate Francis B. Peckham for the position.

HANDS OFF.

A certain class of legislators both in Congress and the state legislatures seem to feel that it is their business to be continually revising the laws. They are nothing if they cannot amend an Act, or an Act to amend an Act; and so to keep up a sense of dignity and self importance they are always pressing forward something new. Many of the evils of to-day result from over legislation. In the course of his speech at Toledo, President Hayes said one thing at least to which the whole country will respond with a hearty amen. After discussing the financial question in the usual fashion, and dwelling at some length upon the improved business prospects, he earnestly recommended the wisdom of letting things alone. Too much legislation on financial subjects is, he remarked, the bane of the times, and a truer word was never spoken. The President might have gone even further, and said that superfluous legislation upon all manner of subjects is one of the heaviest burdens on a suffering community. What business man demand, and must have, if they are to do any trade, is a certain basis upon which to build. When the laws of the country are liable from week to week to be revolutionized, the paralysis of all enterprise is the inevitable consequence. And just here we are reminded of the difference between the theories of a stable, conservative government, as enunciated by the President at Toledo, and the practices of the Secretary of the Treasury at Washington. That zealous officer has done about as much harm as would be likely to result from a session of Congress, and that is saying a good deal. If business could be left to take care of itself the country would soon recuperate. Prosperity must come of itself. It can never be brought about by political management or partisan successes.

THE FALL RIVER TROUBLES.

The financial complications in our neighboring city of Fall River are on the increase. It is now believed that the managers of the Durfee estate are in the same boat with Chace, Hathaway and Stickney. The correspondent of the Providence Journal says it is difficult to believe that Holder B. Durfee would knowingly commit any act of dishonesty. It was difficult to believe this of the trio whose rascalities have been exposed, also. But that difficulty no longer exists. The same correspondent, who has given us most reliable reports of these matters says further, the Durfee affairs promise "astounding complications." We had hoped that the end had been reached, but it looks otherwise at present. The statement prepared by Hathaway is still kept from the public, though the facts must at some time come out, and the sooner the better. It is confidently asserted that Mr. Hathaway's statement is now in the hands of District Attorney Marston, and is kept back for prudential reasons.

RESUMPTION OF SPECIE PAYMENTS.

But one thing is needed to enable us to resume specie payments, and that is the specie with which to pay our obligations in so far as the specie is demanded. As we all remember Horace Greeley used to write that "the way to resume was to resume." It has been the misfortune of the United States that our politicians have treated the subject of resumption as a matter of complex nature, whereas it requires nothing but the application of the simplest business principles to bring it about. Each succeeding Secretary of the Treasury has had his schemes—not one, but many—and each one has had more thought of the credit which he was to receive, for his policy, than he has had of the accomplishment of the actual result. This was the case with Boutwell and with Richardson, and, if we may judge by the acts and sayings of Secretary Sherman, more so with him than with either of the others. It has seemed necessary to these gentlemen that something should be done of a sensational character, which would redound to their credit. None of them seems to have appreciated the plain, simple fact, that while they were powerless for the accomplishment of the purpose, they might be, and were, all powerful as stumbling-blocks in its way. The relation of the United States Government to the outstanding legal-tenders varies not a whit from the position of the individual who has issued notes payable on demand. Legal tender notes are simply a debt of the United States, the notes representing the value of property received by the Government and expended in the prosecution of the great war of the Rebellion. The only way to resume is to pay these notes as fast as the ability of the Government will permit. This is all there is to resumption. The Government holds in its vaults something like $100,000,000 of coin over and above its special coin liabilities. The individual in a similar position would be called upon and made to pay so much of his demand indebtedness as he was able to buy. Whenever it falls to our lot to have a Secretary of the Treasury capable of comprehending this simple business problem, we shall have hopes of a final resumption of specie payment.

LITERARY.

Mrs. Francis Hodgson Burnett's new novel of "Haworth's" is announced as the leading serial of Scribner for 1878-9. It is the longest story Mrs. Burnett has written, and will be more profusely illustrated than any serial which has yet appeared in that magazine. The series of portraits of American poets, will be continued, the next being that of Longfellow. These portraits are drawn from life by Wyatt Eaton, and engraved by T. Cole. They will be printed separately on tinted paper, as frontispieces of four different numbers, during the magazine year. Illustrated contributions are also announced on Canada, American Art and Artists, American Archæology, American Inventors, Lawn-planting for Small Places, &c., &c.; also, Essays by Prof. Sumner, Horace White, and others, on the National Banking System, the Patent System, and New South, and other matters of National interest; as well as contributions from John Burroughs, General McClellan, Robert Dale Owen, R. H. Stoddard, Bret Harte, Edward Eggleston, Sidney Lanier, Dr. Holland (the Editor of the magazine), and other well-known or hitherto unknown writers.

Kearney didn't stay long in New York. He was afraid the newspapers there would nominate him for mayor.—[Norristown Herald.

An old granger, who came into town to purchase a piano for his daughter, asked the agent if he hadn't one with a handle in the end, "so we can all give it a turn once in a while."—[Norristown Herald.

"You want to brake on this road, do you? Well, you can sit down there. We have no vacancy just at present; but we kill about two brakemen a day, and I dare say in a few minutes I shall hear of some one losing an arm or a leg, and then you can have the job." The man thought he would not wait.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

—The weather is cooler.

—The Providence steamer brought about 200 excursionists yesterday.

—Services will be held this evening at the Thames Street M. E. Church.

—There will be a drill of the light battery at Fort Adams, tomorrow at 1 o'clock.

—The Thames street Methodist Episcopal Church has given $10.50 for the relief of the south.

—The schooner Wave, tender to the U. S. frigate Minnesota, has arrived here from New London.

—Charles Martin, aged eleven, residing in the lower part of the city, has been missing since Thursday.

—The 11.30 A.M. boat from Newport and the 2 P. M. boat from Providence have been withdrawn for the season.

—The large fleet of wind-bound vessels which have been detained here for a few days went on their way yesterday.

—Rev. N. J. Wheeler will address the meeting at the Reform Club hall tomorrow evening, commencing at 8 o'clock.

—Mrs. Lucina Carr, an aged lady, was seriously injured a few days ago by falling out of her doorway on Pelham street.

—Madigan, who victimized so many Newporters recently, is playing at Whitehall, N. J. The inhabitants will not long be kept in ignorance of his character.

—There was a family quarrel in front of the postoffice Saturday night. The wife wanted to go to New York without her husband and the latter didn't want her to go until tonight. The woman cried, the husband argued and Capt. Hammond acted as peacemaker. The husband finally consented to allow her to go and gave her the money to pay her fare in the presence of the captain. He subsequently changed his mind, however, and before Long wharf was reached he took the baby and escorted his wife home.

—A pony, belonging to Charles H. Russell, driven by his daughter Miss Grace Russell, became frightened near the club this morning and dashed at terrible speed the whole length of Church street when the phaeton encountered a lamp post. The horse was thrown and was cut, but not seriously injured. Miss Russell and the boy in the rumble were not at all harmed though their escape was a miraculous one. With much nerve and great presence of mind Miss Russell kept the reins and was able to guide the horse by several other carriages which stood on the narrow street.

Mrs. Finkenstaedt announces that she is to sell off her present stock at very low figures and, during this sale, she will herself be at the store in Franklin street where she will be pleased to see her friends and patrons. Now is the time to buy material for Christmas work.

SUPREME COURT.

SEVENTH DAY.—MORNING.

The court came in this morning at ten o'clock. Present, their honors, Judge Potter and Judge Matteson.

The case of Wm. H. H. Howland vs. George Howland was opened to the first jury by Mr. Peckham for the plaintiff.

This is a case brought by the plaintiff to recover the amount of a promissory note given for the sum of 1,300 dollars, from the defendant who is the plaintiff's father. The parties live in Tiverton and the defendant's real estate has been attached in the suit, which the plaintiff deemed it necessary to do in order to save his rights in the premises. The matter was laid before the jury in brief, the counsel on either side as well as Judge Potter in his charge to the jury, occupying but a few moments. The jury retired with the case at 10.30 and came in after a brief absence with a verdict for plaintiff for the sum of $2018.18 cts and costs.

At eleven o'clock, the other jury was called to the panel and the case of John A. C. Stacy and others against Charles Taylor was opened to them on the part of plaintiff by Mr. Sheffield, Mr. Honey appearing for the defendant.

This is an action of trespass and ejectment to recover from the defendant a strip of land which the plaintiff claims that defendant unlawfully holds possession of. The estate is situated in the fifth ward, and the defendant denies the plaintiff's claims and avers that he is rightfully in possession of the disputed land. After the opening of the case, the Jury in charge of the sheriff, went down to take a view of the premises in dispute, returning into court at 12.30, when the trial was proceeded with, before Judge Matteson, and is still pending as we go to press.

The case of Wm. K. Brown vs. John D. Northam was this day continued.

In the case of James Green and wife against Thomas Welch, an action of trespass and ejectment, the defendant was this day called and defaulted and judgment for possession and for costs, rendered for plaintiff.

The divorce petition of Samuel M. Albro vs. Mary C. Albro has been heard and granted.

One of the largest bananas of the Musa Cavendishii specimen fruit, can now be seen at Hodgson's conservatories, corner of Bellevue and Leroy avenues. Mr. Hodgson says it is one of the finest specimens he has ever seen. It has now 250 fruits on and not yet fully developed.

BEAUTIFUL NEW SONG.—The Phantom Footsteps is the name of the latest successful song and chorus by Henry C. Work, author of "Grand-father's Clock," and other popular songs. S. Brainard's Sons, Cleveland, O., Publishers.

THE BOW BELLS.

For some time past the Bow Bells, one of the finest, if not the finest, in the city of London, has been undergoing examination in the public interest, and before long the familiar chimes which captivated or consoled a Whittington, and have since charmed many more from time immemorial, will ring out as before. The Church of St. Mary-le-Bow, which, if not originally a Roman temple, as generally believed, was one of the earliest churches built by our Norman conquerors, has been destroyed more than once by storm and fire. It was at one time garrisoned and besieged, and was afterward the scene of an assassination. It was first mentioned as a Christian church in the reign of William the Conqueror. Stow says it was the first in the city built on arches of stone, and that it was therefore called St. Mary de Arcubus, or the Bow, although he elsewhere says, but with less apparent probability, that it took its name from certain stone arches supporting a lantern on the top of the tower. By the way, the Court of Arches was formerly held in this church, and derived its name from that circumstance. During the reign of William Rufus the roof of the church was blown off by the wind, and four of the rafters were driven into the ground with such violence that, although they were each twenty-six feet long, little more than four feet of length was visible, the ground in the neighborhood being then a mere fen. About 100 years after this event a tumult of a serious nature occurred in the city, which led to the assault upon the church before alluded to. The ringleader was William Fitz Osbert, surnamed Longbeard, who was almost worshipped by the lower orders on account of his exertions as a professed advocate of the poor against the oppressions of the rich. An attempt being made to seize him he took refuge in Bow steeple, together with various followers, and being well provided with ammunition and provisions was able for a long time to defy the authorities. In order to drive him out the steeple was fired. This had the desired effect; the rioters were made prisoners, and, after a hasty trial, were hanged at the Elms in Smithfield, at that time the usual place of execution. It appeared that Fitz Osbert did not lose his reputation among the people with his life, for it is said that after his death vast numbers of persons resorted to Smithfield, expecting that miracles would be performed, and that they carried away as holy relics pieces of the earth on which his blood had fallen.—[London Times.

BUSINESS IN CHICAGO.

Business was fairly active last week for this season, and while values were on an average more or less lower than a year ago, sales of merchandise of most descriptions were larger than then. The larger part of the daily sales was accomplished by mail orders and many a good-sized package was shipped to points in Southern Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota, Texas and other states and territories that a few years since were almost uninhabited. The settlement of the West has proceeded vigorously for a year past, and much of the increased grain acreage is due to the new impetus given to colonizing new states. Lumberyard dealers have enjoyed a good trade but prices ruled weak, owing to the unusually large local stocks of common lumber.—[Northwestern Christian Advocate.

There is to be found in the heart of modern society a large and increasing minority of women, whose various occupations leave them neither time or inclination to follow in that fantastic dance of fashion which is instituted for the employment of the inane, and the profit of milliners. It is worthy of inquiry whether some quiet haven, safe from the ceaseless perturbations of this disturbing influence, might not be found for those who are now dragged reluctantly with the current, or for such as, affecting to defy it are wallowing hopelessly in the trough of dowdyism. In the one case, much of energy, in the other, much of practical efficiency, is lost; the unwilling follower, conscious of being always a day too late, is fussy and impatient while suffering from a feeling of self-abasement, and the rebellious sister who has dropped out of the existing system before any other had been organized to receive her, skulks in and out of the feast of life in the disadvantageous position of one who has not on the "wedding garment." It has long since come to be felt and acted on in case of men, that these restless shiftings in the fashion of clothes are incompatible with the grave concerns which go to fill up a worthy human career; and for them the evil has practically ceased. That the time must come when relief from the foolish oppression extends to women also can scarcely be a matter of doubt; it remains only to be seen how far the hour is advanced, and in what form the amelioration is likely to appear.

WIND AND WATER.

Terrible Tornado and Tidal Wave in Hayti.

Advices from Hayti, report terrible destruction by a tornado and partial tidal wave, on the third, fourth and fifth of September. At Jacqueto several warehouses were swept to sea with their contents. Several buildings and the public hall were demolished. Two wharves were swept away, and five vessels were wrecked, including the Dominican frigate Ozama, the barque Helen and ship Serpent. At Aux Cayes 181 houses were destroyed by the tornado in less than three hours. The Gaucan bridge, military headquarters, courthouse, school-house, arsenal and prison were destroyed, and all the roads were filled with broken trees and debris. Several lives were lost, and many persons wounded. The towns of Torbeck and Port Salut also had several houses destroyed, and every garden washed away. At St. Louis and Cavaillon the tornado tore houses to pieces, and the sea rushed into the marketplace, sweeping away men, women and children, and leaving only four houses standing. The loss of life is unknown, as no one is left to help the wounded or bury the dead. Five bodies have been found. At Aquin only forty houses remain, the rest have been swept away. At Jeremie twenty houses were swept out to sea and dashed to pieces. The wharf and Fort Telemaque were also destroyed. At Corail forty houses were destroyed, and the American schooner Warden was lost, but the crew were saved. The distress in the country is fearful, as the crops and roads are entirely destroyed. The government was going to send a vessel from Port au Prince with food to the southern part of the land. Letters state that the destruction of the coffee crop is about complete, as well as most other property. A Jacmel letter says that half a million pounds of wool were swept away there. The loss at Jacmel is over $60,000. Trinidad advices state that the tornado swept that island on the first of September, tearing down houses, trees, bridges, warehouses, and strewing the coast with wrecks and wreck matter. In the interior the cocoa crop is nearly destroyed by the blowing down of trees which are grown to shelter the cocoa plant, 20,000 of the latter being destroyed on Needham's plantations. Seven inches of rain fell, and at midnight an earthquake occurred. No lives were lost, however.

GENERAL JACKSON TAKES THE RESPONSIBILITY.

[From posthumous paper by Robert Dale Owen, in Scribner for October.]

It is well known that Jackson, on his accession as President, appointed Martin Van Buren, Secretary of State, and that Mr. Van Buren, in April, 1831, resigned that office. Thereupon President Jackson appointed him Minister to England, and it became necessary to supply his place in the cabinet.

At that time there was in the United States Senate, from Louisiana, Edward Livingston, a gentleman who had already won an enviable reputation as author of the code which still bears his name,—a work which has had its influence on the jurisprudence of succeeding times. Livingston at that time stood very high, not only as jurist but as statesman his name had come up, along with many others, and he had been spoken of as one eminently fitted for Secretary of State. It so happened, also, that the Senate was then nearly equally divided between the two existing parties, Whig and Democratic; it need hardly be added that the President had been elected by the latter party.

Now, when rumors became rife that Livingston might be finally selected by Jackson as cabinet officer, a small deputation of the Democratic leaders and personal friends of the President, unwilling to face the General directly, called on Mr. Trist to talk the matter over with him. They began by adverting to the fact that barely a Democratic majority of two could at that time be safely counted on in the Senate; that if Livingston, an influential Democrat, was appointed Secretary of State, one of these votes would be lost; and that if (as was probable in the then state of parties in Louisiana) a Whig was appointed to take his place it would result in a tie. They represented that such a contingency would very seriously embarrass the President, perhaps in the way of thwarting his policy, more certainly by endangering the confirmation of his appointments. And they finally begged Mr. Trist to take an early opportunity of expressing to the General their earnest desire, both for his own sake and for that of the party, that he would give to such considerations their due weight before calling Livingston from his place in the Senate.

Mr. Trist at first demurred to the undertaking of this task, alleging his belief that it would be fruitless; but was finally persuaded to reconsider his refusal. Accordingly, one evening when Jackson, after a hard day's work, was seated in his armchair, his head sunk on his breast and his attitude betokening repose and reflection, Trist—with great reluctance, however, and after suitable apology—laid before him the fears and the wishes of his friends. At the first broaching of the subject (so Trist informed me), the old man drew himself bolt upright, according to his military wont, fixed his thoroughly awakened eyes full on the speaker; and, as the latter went on with his report, the flash from those stern eyes sufficiently indicated in advance—to one so familiar with his manner as his secretary was—the probable result.

He listened patiently, however, until the conclusion. Then, after a pause, all he said, in his usual brief and unflinching manner, was: "Mr. Trist, my friends ought to know that no considerations of that kind can influence my choice of a Secretary of State. It is my duty to select for that important office the man best fitted to fill it, and to leave the rest to God. Tell these gentlemen so." And the very next day Livingston was appointed to the vacant chair in the cabinet.

THE WING-WANG STYLE OF NOTE.

What is the wing-wang? The wing-wang is a thing no more easily imagined than described, and not imaginable from a description. It is a strip of paper four times as long as it is wide, and with pointed flaps attached to three sides of the upper quarter of its length. You fold the two lower quarters together, making a neat little square sheet; and write your few words of kindly fun, or your little message, or petty commission, or even tenderness upon it, and then you fold it once, twice, upon itself, and bring down the little pointed flaps over it, and behold a rather odd but innocent looking little note.

When your correspondent receives it, he cuts it carefully across the end and gives the enclosed sheet a small pull: finding that that does no good, he cuts it across the top and gives a little jerk, but it were considering to curiously to ask what he says then, or in what other remarks he indulges before he extricates your practical joke from its shell, and finds what a pleasant-flavored little kernel it is. The wing-wang is good for one's friends, but it is not the kind of sauce that one should try upon editors, or bank presidents, or upon sensitive creatures like members of the school committee.—[Fashion cor.

WITH PIPE AND FLUTE.

With pipe and flute the rustic Pan
Of old made music sweet for man;
And wonder hushed the warbling bird,
And closer drew the calm-eyed herd—
The rolling river slowlier ran,

Ah! would—ah! would a little span,
Some air of Arcady could fan
This age of ours too seldom stirred
With pipe and flute.

But now for gold we plot and plan;
And from Beersheba unto Dan
Apollo's self might pass unheard,
Or find the night-jar's note preferred;
Not so it fared, when time began
With pipe and flute!

—[Austin Dobson.

EAST GREENWICH.

MAD DOG EXCITEMENT.—A large black, straight-haired dog belonging to Gov. William Greene, showed symptoms of hydrophobia yesterday morning, biting a Scotch terrier badly, with whom he had previously lived on terms of friendship. He was immediately chained up, but towards evening broke away after taking Mr. Shippee, a work hand, who was trying to lead him, by the boot leg, but without breaking the skin, and then running off, has not been seen in the neighborhood since, although men with lanterns and guns were searching for him last night. It is supposed that he was bitten about three weeks ago by the dog that attacked a sow and pigs belonging to the Governor, and was afterwards killed.

The discipline by which character is perfected is a discipline under law. God requires man patiently to study the laws which he has impressed upon nature,—to investigate physical laws, and social laws, and economical law, and mental laws, and moral laws,—and to conform to them in all his conduct. In getting gain, and not loss in doing good, he must study and obey God's laws. It is only thus that he learns foresight, patience, self-control. If he could get everything he wanted by simply asking for it he would be a moral weakling; it is vastly better for him that he should be obliged to study and labor and wait for it,—to work out his own fortune and his own salvation. If his livelihood or his gain came to him as the result of asking and believing, rather than as the result of thinking and planning and striving and denying himself, there would be no such chance as now exists for the cultivation of his manhood. The man who makes the "faith principle" his reliance in conducting his business is simply asking God to set aside the conditions which he himself has ordained for the development of character. Nobody doubts that God can do this; but it is not reasonable to suppose that he will.—[Editor's Table, Sunday Afternoon.

In America a coachman may win his way into Congress, and a servant girl may marry a future Governor. If we must have either discomfort or feudalism, let us choose discomfort. But sometimes when I watch the English servants at their work, it occurs to me that, as there is nothing degrading in household service, and as we Americans pay very dearly for it, surely it ought to be more honestly and ably performed, even by embryo Congressmen and the possible wives of Governors. If any one objects to this sentiment as unrepublican, I'll make it stronger by suggesting that we should have in America stricter laws to compel our future rulers to give us fairer work for our fair wages.

Mr. Hayes will have reason to remember his journey through Minnesota and Wisconsin as one of the most delightful episodes of his official life. He has been received everywhere with a cordiality that was intended for his policy not less than for his person.—[St. Louis Republican. Democratic.

The compositor who made it read, "In the midst of life we are in debt," wasn't so much out of the way.

Newport Daily News.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1878.

EDEN.

Deep in the summer time of long ago,
There dwelt on either side a broken stream
A knight, who, sighing, felt love's passion grow,
A maiden weeping for some distant dream.
His gallant life was lost on Holy Land;
Her love was buried in a life's regret,
Loving the river where he touched her hand;
They called it Eden where these lovers met.

The summer time still comes though knights are dead;
With tears of maidens rivers rush to sea;
Love ruleth still though chivalry has fled—
His kisses were the same to you and me.
All was the same from bridge to ruined mill,
Across the stream we loved, and met to part;
While winters change to flower time, and still
They call it Eden where you broke my heart.

—[The London World.

SUNDRIES.

A miller has the divine right to bolt.

The clashing of cymbals—using a mixed metaphor.

The cucumber does its best fighting after it's down.

Take away woman, and what would follow? The men.

Even the clams enter into the joy of a Rhode Island bake.—[Boston Transcript.

A grocer advertises "Hams and cigars—smoked and unsmoked."

A volume that will bring tears to your eyes—a volume of smoke.

Does a young man with one arm have an off-hand way of doing things?

Why not make spectacles of mica? Then a man can get his isinglass cheaper than ever.

"Let you go to evening school, Mary? Why, I thought you could read?" "Well, ma'am, I does know my letters fustrate, so long's they keep all in a row; but just as soon as they gits mixed up into words I'm beat."

An Indianapolis barber who abandoned his business and went into the ministry was suddenly called upon to baptize three candidates. He got along very well, but after baptizing the first he astonished his congregation by lustily shouting. "Next!"

Sunday-school teacher—"Which is the best, the wheat or the tares?" Master Hobbs—"The tares, teacher." Sunday-school teacher—"Why? Explain yourself, you stupid boy." Master Hobbs—"The wheat gets thrashed, but tares don't."

EYES OF FLOUNDERS.

How the eyes of the flounder become situated both on the same side of the head is discussed by Mr. Agassiz in the Proceedings of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. The young flounder immediately after hatching does not differ from other fishes, but very early in life, as seen in eight species, one eye begins to pass, by a combined process of translation and rotation, over the frontal bones from the pale side to the dark side. In Plagusia, however, the eye sinks into the head, the old orbit closes up as the eye works its way across the head of the Plagusia, until eventually the right eye gets entirely over to the left side. Pouchet has recently called attention to the fact that the want of color on the blind side of flounders is plainly due to the partial atrophy of the great sympathetic nerve, effected during the passage of the eye from one side of the head to the other.—[Editor's Scientific Record, in Harper's Magazine for October.

INSURANCE

AGAINST LOSS BY FIRE

CAUSED BY

ACCIDENT, INCENDIARISM, LIGHTNING,

Or any Other Cause.

I REPRESENT the oldest company in America, and also the largest company in the United States, together with other standard American and European institutions. The Ætna of Hartford alone has paid over $43,000,000 in losses, and has now $7,000,000 assets in hand.

Insurance in such companies, with ample means, and an established reputation for fair dealing, is worth much more than in any of the numerous weaklings that totter along for a while and then go down. About fifty such companies have failed during the last year, and as many others are on the way to ruin.

The rates in these first-class companies are no higher than in the small and doubtful concerns.

Farm property taken very low for three or five years.

All losses settled at this office. For terms call on, or address by mail the undersigned at the office of this paper. L. D. DAVIS.

A Complete Fertilizer.

The success of the Complete Fertilizer, made up on the basis of wood ashes, has been such as to call for the preparation of a much larger quantity for present use. One farmer who had half a ton last spring, now orders ten tons for grass and fall sowing. Others are also calling for it in larger quantities and I shall have a supply ready for delivery on or before September first. It is especially adapted to pasture and grass, and now is the best time to sow it for next season's crop. None of the ingredients are wasted and the bone, potash, etc., will be in soluble condition for the desired effects early next spring.

The fertilizing ingredients in this preparation are obtained at less price than in the best leached ashes at 15 cents a bushel, and the mechanical action on the soil is equally good.

Farmers or Gardners who desire further particulars of its composition, can obtain the desired information by sending for a circular. It is sold mixed at less than the retail price of the several ingredients, and every article used in making it up is subjected to analysis to determine its purity. Price $40 a ton. L. D. DAVIS,

PENNSYLVANIA

RAILROAD.

Great Through Line

AND

UNITED STATES MAIL ROUTE.

The attention of the traveling public is respectfully invited to some of the merits of this great highway, in the confident assertion and belief that no other line can offer equal inducements as a route of through travel. In stands confessedly at the head of American railways. The track is double the entire length of the line, of steel rails laid on heavy oak ties, which are embedded in a foundation of rock ballast eighteen inches in depth. All bridges are of iron or stone, and built upon the most approved plans. Its passenger cars, while eminently safe and substantial, are at the same time models of comfort and elegance.

CONSTRUCTION AND EQUIPMENT

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD

The Safety Appliances

in use on this line well illustrate the far-seeing and liberal policy of its management, in accordance with which the utility only of an improvement and not its cost has been the question of consideration. Among many may be noticed

THE BLOCK SYSTEM of SAFETY SIGNALS,

Janney Coupler Buffer and Platform,

THE WHARTON PATENT SWITCH,

AND THE

WESTINGHOUSE AIR-BRAKE,

forming in conjunction with a perfect double track and road-bed a combination of safeguards against accidents which have rendered them practically impossible.

PULLMAN PALACE CARS

Are run on all Express Trains

From New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington,

To Chicago, Cincinnati, Louisville, Indianapolis, and St. Louis, and to all principal points in the far West and South with but once change of cars. Connections are made in Union Depots, and are assured to all important points.

The Scenery

OF THE

PENNSYLVANIA ROUTE

Is admitted to be unsurpassed in the world for grandeur, beauty, and variety. Superior refreshment facilities are provided. Employees are courteous and attentive, and it is an inevitable result that a trip by the Pennsylvania Railroad must form
